HOW THEY DINED.

The Methods of the English at Table in the Seventeenth Century.

The old English had three meals a day, of which the chief meal was taken when the work of the day was finished. The first meal was at 9, dinner was about 3 o'clock, and supper was taken just before bedtime. The Normans dined at the old English breakfast time or a little later and supped at 7 p. m. In Tudor times the higher classes dined at 11 and supped at 5, but the merchants seldom took their meals before 12 and 6 o'clock.

The chief meals, dinner and supper, were taken in the hall both by the old English and the Normans, for the parlor did not come into use until the reign of Elizabeth. Breakfast did not become a regular meal until quite lately, and Dr. Murray, in the Oxford Dictionary, gave 1403 as the date of the earliest quotation in which the word occurred. The meal did not become recognized until late in the sixteenth century, for Pepys habitually took his draft of half a pint of Rhenish wine or a dram of strong waters in place of a morning meal. Dinner was always the great meal of the day, and from the accession of Henry IV to the death of Queen Elizabeth the dinners were as sumptuous and extravagant as any of those now served. Carving was then a fine art. Each guest brought his own knife and spoon, for the small fork was not introduced into England until Thomas Coryate of Odombe published his "Cordillies" in 1611. Pepys took his spoon and fork with him to the lord mayor's feast in 1668. The absence of forks led to much stress being laid upon the act of washing the hands both before and after meals and to the rule that the left hand alone should be dipped into the common dish, the right hand being occupied with the knife.

The perfect dinner at the best time of English cookery consisted of three courses, each complete in itself, and terminated by a subtlety or device, the whole being rounded off with yppocreas, after which the guests retired into another room, where pastry, sweetmeats and fruit were served with the colour wines. The English were essentially meat eaters, and it was not until the time of the Commonwealth that pudding attained its extraordinary popularity. Indeed, the first mention of pudding in the menus of the "Backfast" at St. Bartholomew's hospital did not occur until 1710, and in 1713 is an item of 5 shillings for ice.—London Times.

Stately Dances of Old.

The minuet is already known to many, were it only through the innumerable pictures executed by pastelists, now dead but still celebrated. The dainty gestures, the graceful steps, the sweeping courtesies, are no secret to us, but the saraband and the passepas we do not know much about, although they are well worth being studied. The saraband is what one might call a minuet religious dance, for it is so deliberate, so solemn and yet so gracefully beautiful. The cavaliers, when they bend before their fair partners, literally sweep the floor with their plumed hats, while the ladies' brooches and laces flutter around them like the wings of some bright bled butterfly about to take its flight. The promenade—a sort of polonaise—which follows, the couples marching with imposing demeanor behind one another, is, beyond everything else, becomingly dainty, although somewhat strait laced, but one cannot be anything but enchanted by something so entirely removed from the heavy and scurry seen in our ballroom when a minuet is written on the cards of invitation.

The passepas is a dance more like the promenade, but more like a minuet play fine, well measured steps and again planned but the most graceful, making up a tableau of grace and charm and aristocratic motion. The essential qualities of all these dances are simplicity and grace, for they afford no opportunity for displays of gymnastics, of hurried athleticism, no force of blows, no pushing or jolting or elbowing. They are the very essence of easy gliding and of keeping time to strains of melody, which remind one involuntarily of the evanescent odor of some rare old perfume like those we still find in the silken sachets made by our great-grandmothers.—Exchange.

"The Barber of Seville," the famous opera of Rossini, was produced for the first time on Feb. 16, 1816. According to the Italian law, which fixes the duration of the right of ownership for dramatic works at 80 years, Rossini's masterpiece would have become public property a few weeks ago. But in Italy no opera is more popular than "The Barber," and the revenues from its production constitute almost the whole income of the musical academy at Pesaro, Italy, the residuary legatee of the composer. Owing to this fact, the government has issued a decree prolonging the right of proprietorship two years in order to save the institution financially.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

The trouble with us nowadays is, that we do not lead natural lives. The feminine portion of our society is especially culpable in this way. It is really a wonder that women are as healthy as they are. Very few women get any outdoor exercise. Very many get no exercise at all. Modes of dressing interfere with the proper muscular action and with the circulation of the blood. All the hygienic laws are broken. It is little wonder that women in ten are troubled with some derangement or irregularity in the action of the organs distinctly feminine. Neglect and wrong living will show themselves first in the most delicate organs of the whole body. With such weakness and sickness so prevalent, it is to be expected that the bearing of children would be fraught with dread and danger. It should not be so, of course. Nature never meant it to be so. The performance of the highest function of which a woman is capable should not be accompanied by pain. If perfectly natural living were the rule, it would not be so. As lives are lived, something else must be done. A remedy must be found. For over thirty years, Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During that time he has treated thousands of women. He has found in his "Favorite Prescription" a never-failing specific for female complaints. It strengthens the whole body and when taken during gestation shortens the period of labor and makes childbirth well-nigh painless. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Some Dispute as to the Platform and the Delegates.

According to the Virginia Enterprise, which advocates silver and upholds the gold party, there was a stormy time in the Republican State Convention at Virginia City last Saturday. There was no free coinage plank in the resolutions reported, and Chairman Colcord took the floor, and advocated a 16 to 1 plank, and succeeded in getting a 16 to 1 plank incorporated in the platform.

Several counties did not have a delegate in the Convention, but, to make party capital, someone introduced a "home rule" plank, and though the improbability of such a resolution in a convention in which one-half the counties were represented by non-residents, was recognized, the plank was incorporated.

The Enterprise says the delegates chosen were C. H. Sproule of Elko, W. S. Bonfield of Humboldt, John Torre of Eureka, J. D. Overton and Enoch Strother of Storey, W. D. Phillips of Washoe and A. C. Cleveland of White Pine.

This, however, must be a mistake, as the vote indicates that the delegates elected were the same as those reported in the Journal Sunday morning, namely: Sproule, Overton, Strother, Turrittin, Phillips and Cleveland, who were not instructed. They are, therefore, at liberty to vote for whom they please, and, as they claim to be for free coinage, they will doubtless, if sincere in their professions, vote for Teller or some other silver man.

The question now being asked is: Where does Colonel Maxson get in? The convention, for some reason, did not even give him a complimentary vote. Will the Colonel stand such treatment from men pretending to be his friends?

An Arm Broken.

Frank, the second son of T. V. Julien, while practicing on a horizontal bar at his home last evening fell and broke both bones of his left arm near the wrist. The little fellow did not whimper but told his elder brother not to frighten his mother, but to tell her there had been an accident and he was slightly hurt. His nose was bleeding and after stopping it he went quietly into the house and told what had happened, being satisfied by that time that his arm was broken. Dr. Phillips was called and set the arm and the little fellow was made as comfortable as possible. Frank took the thing philosophically, simply remarking that the arm was broken and that was all there was about it.

The University Battalion Inspected.

Colonel Burton, U. S. Inspecting Officer, arrived yesterday morning and regularly inspected the University battalion. The boys appeared on the parade ground at 10 o'clock, but, owing to the slight rain, they were marched into the gymnasium and the inspection took place there. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon they again assembled on the parade ground and were thoroughly drilled in the presence of Colonel Burton. At the conclusion of the inspection and drill, the Colonel complimented both officers and men on their fine appearance and proficiency, and not only the students, but everyone connected with the University, felt a natural pride in the events of the day.

Is it for a Purpose or a Fair Story?

Sunday's Examiner comes out with another sensational report about the outrages of the Apache Kid in Arizona. This individual is either a myth or the United States authorities of Arizona ought to be ashamed to have the report go broadcast over the world that one miserable redskin and a handful of followers can defy the whole country. If he exists and commits the crimes charged to him, it seems reasonable to suppose that a few hundred men in Arizona could wipe him and his band off the face of the earth. It is really strange that the good people of Arizona will allow these reports to be wired over the country every few weeks.

A Bike Episode.

Sam Mozingo had a little trouble with his bike on Sunday afternoon, but came out of the scrape without any broken bones but lost a piece of his cheek. Sam was trying a little fancy riding and was traveling down Virginia street at a high pace when the forks of his wheel gave way, throwing him heavily to the ground. He struck on the side of his face and was thoroughly convinced in less time than it takes to tell it, that the macadam of Virginia street, although of very ordinary quality, was much harder than his cheek.

Election of Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Union Building and Loan Association, held at the office of the secretary, in the Washoe County Bank, last evening, President Gilling presiding, 981 shares out of 1,282 were represented. The following named persons were elected trustees for the ensuing year: A. G. Fletcher, C. E. Clough, Henry Thurteil, James Morris, G. F. Turrittin, F. A. Lewis and Charles Gilling. The trustees will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening. The report of the secretary shows the institution to be in a prosperous condition.

A Falsehood Exploded.

The report so industriously circulated by those who know how to lie that a young student at the University, whose parents reside in California, has been booked for the Annapolis Naval Academy is wholly and absolutely without foundation. Mr. Newlands has not been asked to appoint him and has not thought of doing so.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION NOTES.

Gleaned by a Reporter from Disgruntled Delegates.

There were many peculiar things occurred at the Republican State Convention at Virginia Saturday. Some few things can be explained, but most of them are as mysterious to the general public as the incantations at a "Voodoo" jamboree in the South.

Home-rule Summerfield was there, but his resolution was adopted by non-residents, that is, the resolution was adopted by proxies.

Sixteen Bragg of Churchhill to 1 Turrittin of Washoe got in, but it was by a soratch.

A. P. A. Colburn made a sensation, but was not wholly successful, and is now nursing his wrath.

Central Pacific Phillips is on top and will doubtless go to the St. Louis Convention in all his glory.

Protection Flannigan was read out of the party; he doesn't attend the right church.

Colcord tried to work his usual mining deal, and there was a boom in Occidental.

Minister Strother played for the Hawaiian Islands and has excellent prospects as far as the Nevada delegation is concerned.

Cleveland worked the Convention for a job in Utah and polled a flattering vote.

The meek and lowly Sproule secured the heavy vote of the Convention, proxies and all, and has received his just reward.

The eloquent and erudite Cohn made a sensation, but got left as usual with promises.

Water monopoly Overton of Storey got there, but whether it will raise the water rates on the Comstock or not is not known.

The platform enunciated that the Republicans of Nevada paused at the threshold of the campaign of 1896.

There is no doubt of this, as it is well known that they are waiting to see what there is in it before going inside.

They reiterate their devotion for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, but will doubtless support a gold-bug for President in order to get the free federal office that have already been apportioned among the faithful.

Then comes the home-rule plank by Summerfield that will probably be a lasting monument to the author's patriotism and glory and encourage the mothers of Nevada in future ages to teach their prattling babes to forget the name of Washington and liep Summerfield.

Protection, the free non-sectarian public school system and immigration received the usual recognition as a matter of policy and the platform was closed with a grand Chinese New Year protechnic demonstration in which the crowning feature and the climax of the display were the words "Unpledged Delegation."

Colburn tried as a last resort to work in an anti-funding resolution, but a casual glance at the names of the six delegates would convince the most ordinary person, that had the plank been adopted, the delegation would have lost it before reaching St. Louis.

Was Probably Poisoned.

Sheriff Little returned from his hunt for the Smith Valley murderer last week. He did not find his man, and probably nothing more will be done to secure him by the local authorities, as it is too expensive for the county. If Uncle Sam wants to punish the murderer, he will have to foot the bills. It is now understood that the infant child that was buried alive with its mother was a half breed, and many are now of the opinion that the squaw was poisoned instead of dying a natural death.—Dayton Times.

Advertised Letters.

The following is a list of the letters remaining uncalled for in the Reno, Nevada, postoffice for the week ending May 12, 1896:

Shall We Celebrate?

There is some little agitation regarding a "Fourth of July celebration in Reno, but as yet nothing of a definite character has been decided upon. Several have suggested that some move ought to be made, but each one holds back for some one to take the lead. What do the people of Reno think about it, shall we celebrate or not?

Appreciated Away from Home.

The News types wish to thank Messrs Webster and Case, compositors on the Reno Journal, for a big lift Saturday, and warmly vote them blamed good fellows. The job department is grateful for a similar service from Mr. Struthland, the well-known Comstock job printer.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

MCKINLEY'S POSITION.

He Refuses To Say Where He Stands on the Financial Issue.

The following letter was registered at the postoffice, directed to Major McKinley, on April 28, 1896, and no reply has been received:

"UNITED STATES SENATE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1896.
Hon. William McKinley, Jr., Canton, Ohio—MY DEAR SIR: Are you for the gold standard, with silver as subsidiary coin, as defined by Senator Sherman, or are you for the restoration of the bimetallic laws as they existed in this country prior to 1873? An answer, yes or no, is requested. Neither silence nor an evasive answer will exonerate you from an attempt to deceive somebody. Yours respectfully,

"WM. M. STEWART."

Senator Sherman, in a letter to the Young Men's Republican Club of Brooklyn, defines your position on the money question, as follows:

"There can be no doubt of the opinion of Major McKinley on the money question. He is committed in every form, by speech and otherwise, to the Republican policy of maintaining the present gold coin of the United States as the standard of value. He, in common with myself and others, believes that silver should be employed as money, always, however, to be maintained at a par with gold."

"The convenience of silver coin for the minor transactions of life is so manifest that no sound money man would desire its discontinuance, but upon the primary condition that its coinage should be limited and its purchasing power maintained by the fiat of the Government at par with gold."

Is the foregoing a correct statement of your position on the money question? If so, it will give you very little trouble to answer yes or no. If Senator Sherman does not correctly state your views, please state them in your own language. If you entertain the views set forth by Senator Sherman, you are slandered in the West by your Republican friends who claim that you are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. If your friends in the West are right in claiming you as an advocate of the free coinage of silver at the ratio established by law without regard to the action of other nations, your friends in the East are falsely representing you as in favor of the gold standard. Will you define your position or will you continue to hold out hopes to both sides, one or the other of which you must disappoint after election? Millions are looking to you to throw off all subterfuge and define your position so that they can vote intelligently for or against you.

Awaiting your reply, I am, yours very truly,

WM. M. STEWART.

BREVITIES.

The following alternates to the National Republican Convention were chosen on Saturday: W. W. Williams, John Torre, W. S. Bonfield, C. Colburn, P. L. Flannigan and C. G. A. Seock.

Mr. L. Goodfriend and Mrs. Goodfriend (nee Miss Emma Tansing) formerly of Virginia, spent the day here yesterday. They were returning from a trip to Virginia and left for California last night.

Judge Haydon has left at this office a copy of the Oxford, Mississippi, Eagle which shows that the sentiment for free coinage is as strong in that State as it is in Nevada. Property has depreciated in value there as here; the prices of products are reduced to the cost of production, leaving the producer no profit, and a delegation solid for silver will be sent to Chicago.

HE HAD A GOOD MEMORY.

How a Bright Young American Astonished
Some Smart German Officers.

A story is told of a bright young American and several German officers who at a dinner one evening set out to make him uncomfortable by chaffing him about his country. The young man is Albert H. Washburn, the United States consular agent at Magdeburg.
Henry F. Merritt, consul at Chemnitz, was the first one of the Americans attacked with a taunt from one of the Germans that he could not give the names of the presidents of the United States. Merritt named them over with some deliberation and drew from his German friend the declaration that he did not believe there was another American present who could do it.

Young Washburn had said nothing
until now, but he broke in and declared,
"I can do it, and I will give you the vice presidents." He was about to begin when a second thought struck him, and he said, "While I am about it, I might as well give you the secretaries of state too." The Germans got down a book giving the names and kept tabs on the young man as he correctly went through the list. They were pretty well backed down already, but Washburn had no idea of letting them off so easily. "Now, I should like to know," he said, "whether any of you can give the names of the Prussian rulers from the time of Charlemagne and his sons down to the Emperor William?"

Not one of them could go half through the list, and they were on the point of apologizing to the young Massachusetts scholar when he took them down still more by modestly suggesting, "Perhaps I had better do it for you." He began with Charlemagne and went through the list without a break, much to the astonishment of his German hosts and the delight of Consul Edwards and the other Americans. "How did you do it?"
asked Merritt. "Oh, my father had a card for such things and taught them to me when I was a boy, and, you see,
they are sometimes useful to know," he replied.—San Francisco Examiner.

WHY DON'T YOU LAUGH?

Merriment During Meals is the Greatest Medicine For Dyspepsia.

A writer in The Speaker of London calls attention to the value of conversation at meals as an aid to digestion. He says with truth that the frugal repast eaten in silence is more harmful than a copious one enjoyed in the society of gay and vivacious companions.

He asserts that an English dinner is,
as a rule, a funeral rite of taciturnity,
and that his countrymen reserve all of their talk for the political platform and sessions of parliament. The writer intelligently contrasts this habit of the English with that of Americans and Europeans, who, he maintains, are loquacious at meals. So far as the latter are concerned, he is correct, but his assertion in regard to the former is only partly true. To those who have given attention to this subject the habit of our people who take their meals at hotels or more notable restaurants is, during their repasts, one of timid hesitation in indulging in conversation. Men and women seated at the same table are more than quiescent. Each separate group appears to be oppressed with fears of the others. Oblivious looks and an occasional glance uttered in low tones, take the place of animated talk.

Those who are eating alone, or in the fraternal apprehensiveness. The writer in The speaker has probably drawn his conclusions in regard to the vivacity of Americans at meals from experience at minor French and other foreign restaurants in this country. In those the funeral taciturnity that oppresses our men and women who take their meals at pretentious establishments collapses under the inspiration of example and unconventional environment, and with almost boisterous gaiety they give free impulse to a natural love of conversation.

Telegraph Lines.

A German expert, after a careful examination, has announced that the total length of telegraph lines in the world is 1,062,700 miles, of which America has 545,600 miles; Europe, 580,700; Asia,
67,400; Africa, 21,500; and Australia, 47,500 miles. The United States has a greater length than any other country, 408,900 miles, and Russia comes next,
although European Russia has only 81,- 000 miles. The other countries follow in this order: Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, British India, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Canada, Italy, Turkey, the Argentine Republic, Spain and Cuba. In point of proportion, however,
England leads, with 499 miles of wire
per square 1,600 square miles of territory;
France comes next with 869 miles;
Germany and Austria-Hungary have 250 miles of telegraph for every 1,000 miles of land.
